

ICP10 Printing and Graphic Arts Training Package Industry Information Session

Background

These are challenging and exciting times in the printing and graphic arts industry. During 2009 Innovation and Business Skills Australia (IBSA) and the Electrotechnology, Printing, Information and Communication Industry Training Board (EPICITB), in consultation with key industry stakeholders worked to prepare the printing industry for the future. To equip the industry to build and consolidate for the future, competency standards qualifications for the printing and graphic arts industry have been updated, and for the first time, competency standards for digital print sector of the printing communications industry have been introduced.

Information session

We want to provide you with a half day information session that will keep you up to date and well informed of:

- Training that is available for the printing industry, i.e. qualifications.
- Where are we up to regarding modern training methods related to current competencies and qualifications.
- How to structure your training/qualifications to meet your commercial needs
- The current status of Traineeships/Apprenticeships.
- Available funding and incentives.
- Where-to for traditional trade training and relevant qualifications
- How can training be delivered:
  - where
  - when
  - by who?

This will be an interactive session, one that you should not miss.

Facilitator

Greg Grace is well known in the printing and graphic arts industry around Australia. He has spent his working life devoted to the printing industry and the last 38 years as a graphic arts educator and trainer. He has also kept up to date with technological advances and effective ways to make the industry more profitable and competitive.

Greg worked on the original training package introduced in 1999, and has been delivering competency-based training ever since.

Greg will ensure your time spent exploring the training agenda will be of lasting value.
